

Certificate Authority

The CA in the digital world resembles the identity card issuer in the real live. The CA is an authority in a network that issues and manages security credentials and public keys for identity management. The CA is responsible for renewal and revocation of certificates whenever needed. A certificate server provides a trusted authority to confirm a private key user's identity.

This certificate could be used for different set of applications as:

Features

- issuing Certificates
- Manage Token Certificates and Digital IDs
- Manage Database Certificates and Digital IDs
- Provide Certificate Revocation List

Benefits

- Building secure infrastructure
- No Identity theft
- User Friendly/ easy to use
- Standards Complied
- Supports Enterprise structure
- Customizable